Not a day goes by that I don't think about you. You were the baby of the family, and the hardest thing to do is to let that baby go. I know you are dancing with Jesus and the angels and don't feel anymore pain. You will be deeply missed by everyone. I love you LINDSAY ROSE and I know this isn't goodbye!

You are Beautiful

December 18, 2009

Lindsay and her family,

I did not know Lindsay very well but I was very close friends with her cousin Nikki, My heart goes out to your whole family and the service was beautiful just like her. We always wonder why god takes such good and young souls, but just remember, he would not have taken her if he didn't have a plan for her. Hang in their family and believe me, I know from experience, it always hurts but eventually it becomes easier to deal with. I am Nikki's friend Amanda and if there is anything you need you just get my number, 313-295-7529, and let me know if there is anything I can do.

Love you guys and you are in my prayers.

Memories

all the gray you turned into colors...

Mama

Lindsay Rose oh how missed you are. Its another holiday without you here and we just cant celebrate them without you. It just doesn't feel the same. Last year on the 4th we had a family party and you took pictures on the deck with your cousins. We sat by the fire and dad and Jordan let off the fireworks. You had so much fun. Now I cant even watch any fireworks it hurts too bad. I just want all the holidays to go away. Thank God there is church today because it is my only source of comfort right now. Missing you terribly and sending my love up to you in Heaven. I will see you soon. Love Mom!

spenna

lindsay, lindsay, spinsay. The ONLY friend I've ever had where we ALWAYS had soo much fun. I loved hanging out with you because we always got what we want. Your mom could never say no to you, and hanging out with her was always funny (yelling out of her car window at people on the street). With my parents, they loved you so much, and gave us whatever we asked for whenever we were around. No matter how much all of our trips to the wavepool, or to pias, or to the mall, or to CVS cost. HAHAHA It was never about money though. We spent most of our time in crazy outfits showing the public how much we really just didn't car, or spent it inside the house watching movies and eating chips, cheese, and the salsa that you told me was your familys company. I met you in 6th grade, and you were an angel then. Thank you for being such a good friend to me over the many years of our friendship. Like when my car died and you seen me walking on the side of the road, so you scooped me and ditched out your other plans for me, taco bell, and all of my movies. I don't think I'd be as carefree, and fun of a person if it weren't for you. I love you so much, spins. I will continue to miss you for the rest of my life. As for now, I can only remember our crazy, weird, wish we could make more, good times.

Aunt Jeannie

Lindsey

Lins you are so beautiful and I miss every single day theres not a day that goes by that i do not think of you. i would give anything to get just one day back! I miss your fun loving attitude about life, you were never sad always happy even when you were going through the hardest thing in your life you still smiled. I remember when we went to pick up your car after you just got your new rims put on it and your mom was like be Careful Lin and then you go peeling out of the driveway. lol days like that I miss the most. I love you so much sweet girl.

Jess Remelius

Lindsay, I remember the first day I met you, 7th grade year. I could never forget meeting the nicest person I've had in my life. We hadn't known each other for more than a day when you asked me to go to Frankenmuth with you and your family. The awesome car drive, walking around the amazing Christmas store, and buying matching mouse pajamas from Aeropostale. Haha, man do I love that picture your mom took of us. From that day on I knew we were going to be friends forever! Thank you for being such an amazing friend. I love you so much Lin, and I can't wait to see you again.<3

mama

Missing you Lindsay Rose, last New Year's Eve you were so excited about being done with chemo and in remission. You went shopping for a glitzy shirt and you looked so pretty in it. You had fun at the party and you called me at midnight and wished me a Happy New Year. I long to hear your voice again. We were so close, it is so hard to go on without you. We always did everything together and I am lonely for you. I love you so and I am sending you a kiss up in heaven, Happy New Year's baby girl. Love mom

Nikki Beesley

You have always been sassy since the day you were born. Even though there was such a big age difference between us you always ran the show. You have been aggravating Nathan since the day he was born and yelling at me since you could talk...and I wouldn't have it any other way. Even though you were sassy you still had a heart of gold. I LOVE YOU LINDSAY ROSE!!

mama

Lindsay, I have a million memories of you. From the day you were born with so much hair and half was brown like mama and half was blonde like daddy. You walking at eight months, doing the splits at three years old, riding a bike at four years old. You never sat still. You walked into kindergarten with your long brown hair down to your butt. Making homecoming queen, prom, graduation. Thank you sweetheart for being a joy to raise. I love you and mama will see you soon!

The background is a textured, light brown or beige color. In the upper right quadrant, there are two roses. One is a smaller, tighter bud, and the other is a larger, more open rose with many petals. The roses are rendered in a slightly darker shade of the background color, giving them a subtle, embossed appearance.

Life Story

every hour, every thought, every smile...

January 1, 1991

Lindsay lived her life to the fullest. She was just an ORDINARY girl that God used in an EXTRAORDINARY way. She loved shopping, cheerleading, family, friends, and of course her little pug Bruno. She was healthy and happy and unaware that God was soon going to choose her life for his ultimate purpose. How great is our God that even in death you can do great things for his glory.

She may not have accomplished a lot in her eighteen years on this earth, but I am certain that she accomplished more in her death than most living people. Lindsay is now in Heaven with Jesus! My prayer is for anyone who knew and loved Lindsay to use her as a living example of how short this life really is, you may get a few more years but just know this that you will pass on also. Come to repentance and find salvation that is only found at the foot of the cross. JESUS!

Our Deepest Sympathy
